SOURCING PARTS FOR MRO

Thanks to over 100 years' combined experience in sourcing MRO parts, if the part exists then we'll find it and better still, at the best possible price. Using our extensive database, key supplier contacts and exceptional knowledge of the industry, we make light work of solving your sourcing requirements.

We understand what is required to keep your production lines and manufacturing plants running and finding 'that part' is a job you can do without. With our sourcing expertise, we will endeavour to keep your production lines and operations running smoothly 24/7.

- Over 100 years' combined experience in sourcing MRO parts
- We work with a comprehensive database
- Work in partnership with UK and overseas suppliers
- Production knowledge with leading suppliers
- We are a service driven team with a hands-on approach

WHERE DO WE SOURCE FROM?

Our trusted partnerships with manufacturing sites are based in the UK, Europe, Taiwan, India and China. These global partnerships have been developed with us over a long period of time and although the number of manufacturers we deal with are small and succinct, we believe they are the best at what they do and that they fully understand and meet our high expectations, which our customers also expect from us.

The majority of our manufacturers have been rigorously audited for quality, capacity and infrastructure, along with health and safety and their commitment to ethical business practices.

All our global manufacturers either have ISO 9001 or TS 16949.

"If it exists, we'll find it and supply it at the best price"
